The Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine (TsDAVO of Ukraine) preserves the records of the most turbulent chapters in the history of the Ukrainian people, from 1917 to the early twenty-first century.

Invaluable primary sources tell the story of Revolution and Power, Struggle and Loss, Hope and Victory.

A Brief History

of the Archive helps explain how its holdings were formed

The concept of a National Archive of the War and Revolution — which laid the foundations for today's TsDAVO of Ukraine — first emerged in 1917.

It was conceived by historians and archivists of an earlier scholarly tradition who were themselves participants in and contemporaries of the Ukrainian Revolution of 1917–1921.

In the independent Ukrainian National Republic, already during the period of the Ukrainian Central Rada (March 1917 – April 29, 1918), a well-developed system of state authorities was in operation, making the preservation of their records an urgent necessity.

Among state institutions were the following, whose archival fonds are now preserved at the Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine:

- Ukrainian Central Rada — Fonds 1115;
- Council of People's Ministers of the UNR — Fonds 1063;
- People's Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the UNR — Fonds 2592;
- People's Ministry of Land Affairs of the UNR — Fonds 1060;
- Ministry of Military Affairs of the UNR — Fonds 1076;
- Ministry of Internal Affairs of the UNR — Fonds 799;
- General Secretariat of the Ukrainian Central Rada for Jewish Affairs — Fonds 1748; and others.

■ The Ukrainian State under Hetman Pavlo Skoropadskyi (April 29 – December 14, 1918) had an extensive system of state authorities and institutions, whose archival fonds are now preserved at the Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine, including:

- Headquarters of the Hetman of All Ukraine — Fonds 2469;
- Council of Ministers of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 1064;
- State Senate of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 905;
- Ministry of Internal Affairs of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 1216;
- Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 3766;
- Ministry of Finance of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 2199;
- Ministry of Education of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 2201;
- Ministry of Polish Affairs of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 2225;
- Ministry of Land Affairs of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 1061;
- Ministry of Trade and Industry of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 1118;
- Ministry of Military Affairs of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 1074;
- State Control of the Ukrainian State — Fonds 3325 and others.

■ The Directory of the Ukrainian National Republic (November 1918 – November 1920) provides an equally compelling example of a well-developed system of state administration. Among its principal bodies were:

- Chancellery of the Directory of the UNR — Fonds 1429;
 - Council of People's Ministers of the UNR — Fonds 1065;
 - Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the UNR — Fonds 3696;
 - Ministry of Internal Affairs of the UNR — Fonds 1092;
 - Ministry of Justice of the UNR — Fonds 2208;
 - Ministry of Military Affairs of the UNR — Fonds 1075
- and others.*

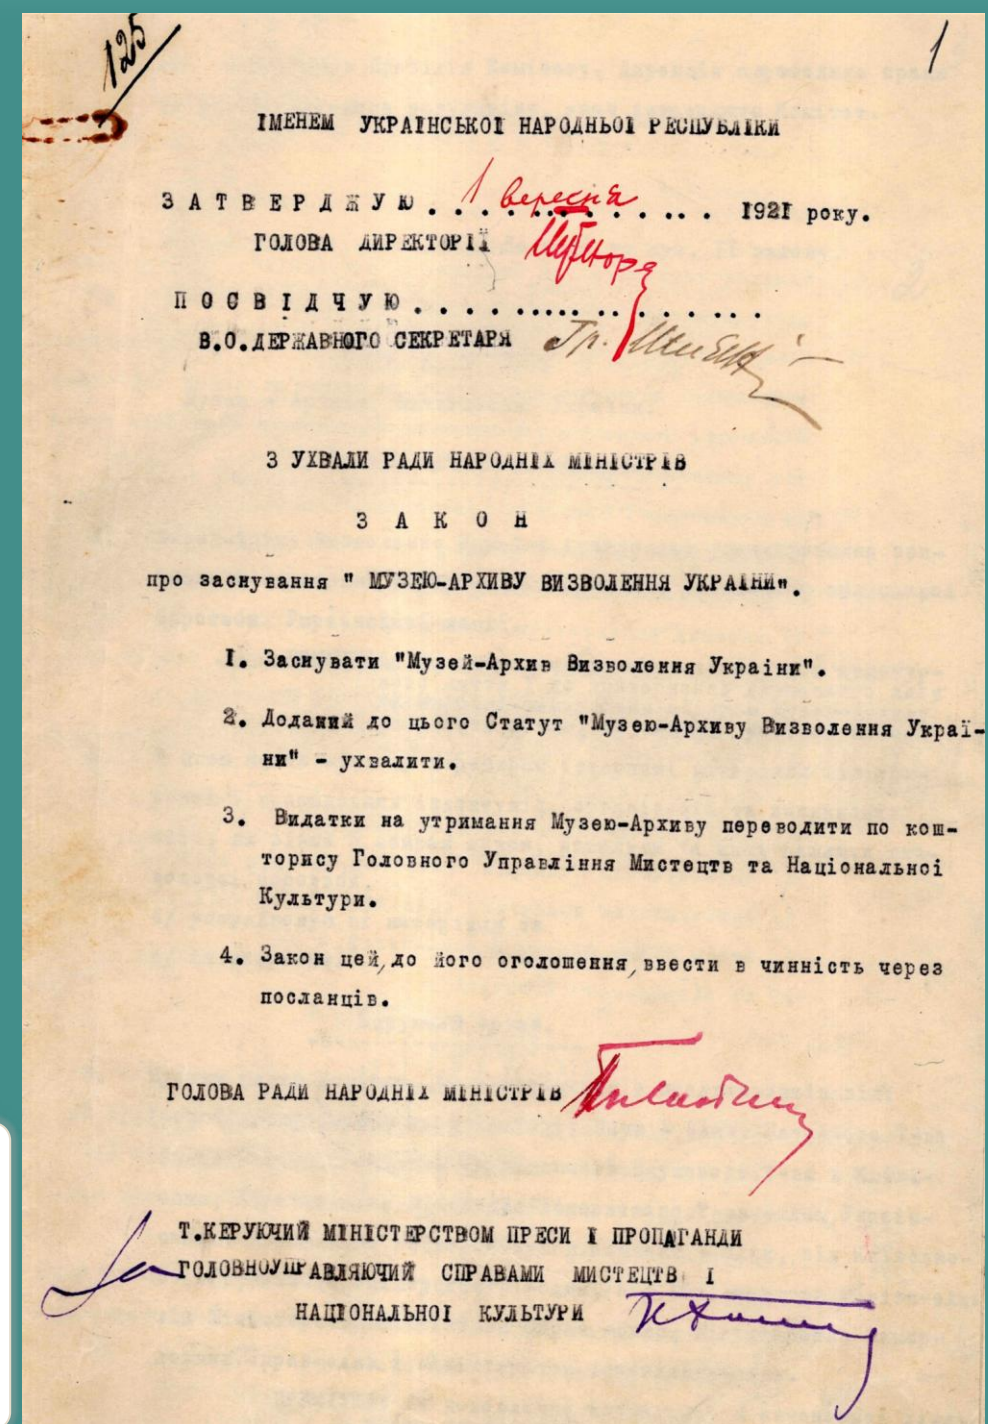

On November 21–22, 1920, the Army of the Ukrainian National Republic crossed the Zbruch River, leaving the territory of Ukraine occupied by the Bolsheviks. The state authorities and institutions of the Ukrainian National Republic went into exile together with the Army. As a result, a vast body of archival records was taken out of Ukraine along with them.

A Brief History

In exile in Prague (Czechoslovakia), two archival institutions preserved Ukrainian National Republic records evacuated from Ukraine and created in exile between 1920 and 1945:

- the Ukrainian National Museum-Archive (Ukrainian Historical Cabinet), founded in 1923, which held approximately 250,000 archival files;
- the Museum of the Liberation Struggle of Ukraine, founded in 1925, which held more than one million archival files.

A Brief History

In Soviet Ukraine, the concept of the Archive of the Revolution acquired a different meaning: it referred not to the Ukrainian Revolution of 1917–1921, but to the so-called “October Revolution” of 1917.

This was later reflected in the archive’s name: in 1941, it became the Central State Archive of the October Revolution and Socialist Construction of the Ukrainian SSR.

Letter from Academician Dmytro Bahalii concerning the allocation of premises for the Archive of the Revolution in Kharkiv. October 22, 1921.

TsDAVO of Ukraine. Fonds 14. Inv. 1. File 59. Original.

A Brief History

The Central Archive of the Revolution was established in 1921 on the basis of the earlier Slobozhanshchyna Archive of the Revolution.

It was later joined by the Central Archive of Labour, established in 1926, and the All-Ukrainian Central State Archive, established in 1930.

All three archives operated in Kharkiv, the capital of Soviet Ukraine until 1934.

The building in Kharkiv that housed the Central Archive of the Revolution from 1920 to 1941, and later the Central State Archive of the October Revolution and Socialist Construction of the Ukrainian SSR until its relocation to Kyiv in 1970.

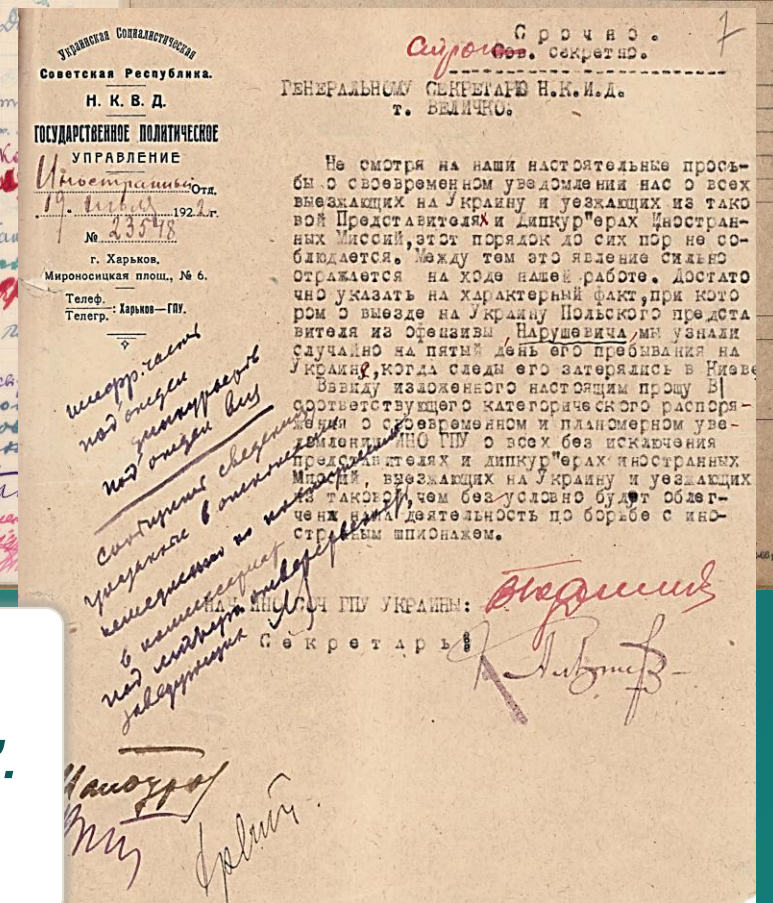

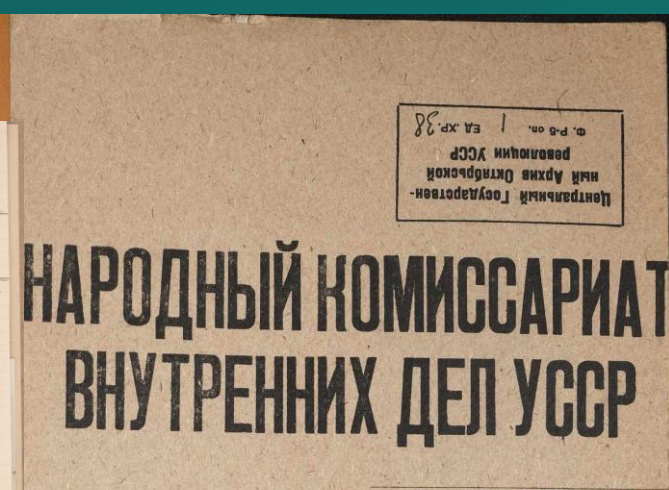

■ By the Second World War, the Archive had already accumulated the records of

- the first Soviet governments of Ukraine;
- the All-Ukrainian Congress of Soviets,
the highest body of state authority of the Ukrainian SSR;
- the All-Ukrainian Central Executive Committee (VUTsVK), which exercised legislative, administrative, and executive authority between Congresses of Soviets;
- the Council of People's Commissars (RNK) of the Ukrainian SSR,
the republic's highest executive and administrative body (its government);
- numerous people's commissariats, which were the equivalents of modern ministries, including the People's Commissariat for Internal Affairs (NKVD),
the principal agency responsible for implementing Stalinist policies of repression, which had controlled all state archives of the republic since 1938;
- the Supreme Council of the National Economy of the Ukrainian SSR (VRNH), the principal body responsible for industrial administration in 1920–1932;
- various trusts that managed different sectors of the economy.

These records document the history of Soviet Ukraine in the pre-war period:

- the formation and development of the Soviet system of government,
- the New Economic Policy,
- collectivization, industrialization,
- Ukrainization and korenizatsiia,
- the policies of the Stalinist leadership across all spheres of society and etc.

A Brief History

Although the Archive received its new name - the Central State Archive of the October Revolution and Socialist Construction of the Ukrainian SSR - in 1941, the war disrupted the implementation of its new conceptual vision.

During the war, the Archive continued its work in Zlatoust in the Urals.

A Brief History

On 1 December 1943, the People's Commissar of Internal Affairs of the Ukrainian SSR issued an order reorganizing the state archives of the Ukrainian SSR.

It provided for the establishment of the Central State Archive of the October Revolution and Socialist Construction of the Ukrainian SSR in Kyiv, with a branch in Kharkiv.

However, after returning from evacuation, the Archive's head office continued to operate in Kharkiv, as no suitable premises could be found for it in Kyiv.

A Brief History

The Archive also received part of the documentary complex of the Reichsleiter Rosenberg Taskforce, documenting the activities of this Nazi organization in the removal of cultural property, archives, library collections, and museum objects from the countries of Central and Eastern Europe to the Reich.

A Brief History

At the request of the Soviet government, in 1945 and 1958, Czechoslovakia transferred to the Soviet Union the archival collections of the Ukrainian Historical Cabinet and the Museum of the Liberation Struggle of Ukraine, as well as the archives of the Ukrainian Free University, the Ukrainian Academy of Economics, and other Ukrainian institutions that had operated in exile between 1921 and 1945.

A Brief History

The largest segment of the Prague Archives — 323 archival fonds comprising approximately 30,000 files, together with around 100 additional fonds of émigré provenance — is now preserved at the Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine.

A Brief History

Almost all records returned to Ukraine or transferred from abroad — including the Ukrainian Prague Archives and the records of Reichsleiter Rosenberg's Headquarters — remained classified until 1991. They were declassified and opened to researchers only after Ukraine gained independence.

A Brief History

In 1970, the Central State Archive of the October Revolution and Socialist Construction of the Ukrainian SSR relocated to Kyiv and moved into the archival complex at 24 Solomianska Street. For the first time, the Archive was able to consolidate all its holdings in one building, where it was allocated 26 archival repositories with a total area of 6,990 square metres.

A Brief History

In 1980, it was renamed the Central State Archive of the October Revolution, Supreme Bodies of State Power and Bodies of State Administration of the Ukrainian SSR. This name clearly defined the Archive's profile: to preserve the records of the supreme and central bodies of state power and administration.

A Brief History

The restoration of Ukraine's state independence in 1991 opened a new chapter in the history of the Archive.

On July 21, 1992, by Resolution No. 415 of the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine, and on July 31, 1992, by Order No. 35 of the Main Archival Administration under the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine, the Archive received its new name:

Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine (TsDAVO of Ukraine).

The new name affirmed its status as a central state archive of independent Ukraine and reflected its collecting profile — the preservation of the documentary heritage of Ukraine's supreme and central bodies of state power and government.

A Brief History

The documentary legacy of the Government of the Ukrainian National Republic in Exile is preserved at the Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine in Fonds 5235.

The first processed part of the fonds (2,198 archival files, 1920–1991) has been fully digitized and is now available to researchers online 24/7 from anywhere in the world. Processing in progress.

Addressing Challenges During Wartime

During the Russian-Ukrainian War, the Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine (TsDAVO of Ukraine) has suffered no physical losses; however, information attacks have emerged as one of the most serious threats to the Archive.

As the custodian of key documentary evidence of Ukrainian statehood, sovereignty, independence, and Ukraine's legal continuity, the Archive has found itself on the front line in countering historical and legal manipulation.

Key manifestations of information attacks:

- denial of the legitimacy of the Ukrainian state and its legal continuity;*
- manipulation of historical facts and the content of archival records;*
- dissemination of pseudo-legal narratives concerning "citizens of the USSR," the alleged "illegitimacy of Ukraine," and similar claims;*
- mass submission of repetitive requests, complaints, and demands, creating an excessive workload and disrupting the Archive's normal operations.*

Archival Fonds and Finding Aids

3,445 archival fonds preserved at the Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine can be broadly divided into six thematic groups.

01 Ukrainian Revolution, 1917–1921

Records of the periods of the Ukrainian Central Rada, the Ukrainian State of Hetman Pavlo Skoropadskyi, the Directory of the UNR, organs of power of the Western Ukrainian National Republic

02 The Soviet period, 1917-1991

Records of the Bodies of State Power and Government of the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic

03 Diaspora & the UNR in exile

Unique materials of Ukrainian émigré institutions and the exiled UNR government – the State center of Ukrainian National Republic, keeping the idea of independence alive beyond the occupied homeland.

04 Independent Ukraine

Records of the modern era, from the declaration of independence on August 24, 1991 to today — the building of democratic institutions and a sovereign state.

05 The Nazi Occupation Authorities and the Reichsleiter Rosenberg Taskforce

Of particular interest are records concerning the removal of cultural property from European countries

06 Archival Reference System and Accounting Documentation for Archival Fonds, the Security Copy Fonds, and the Reference Copy Fonds

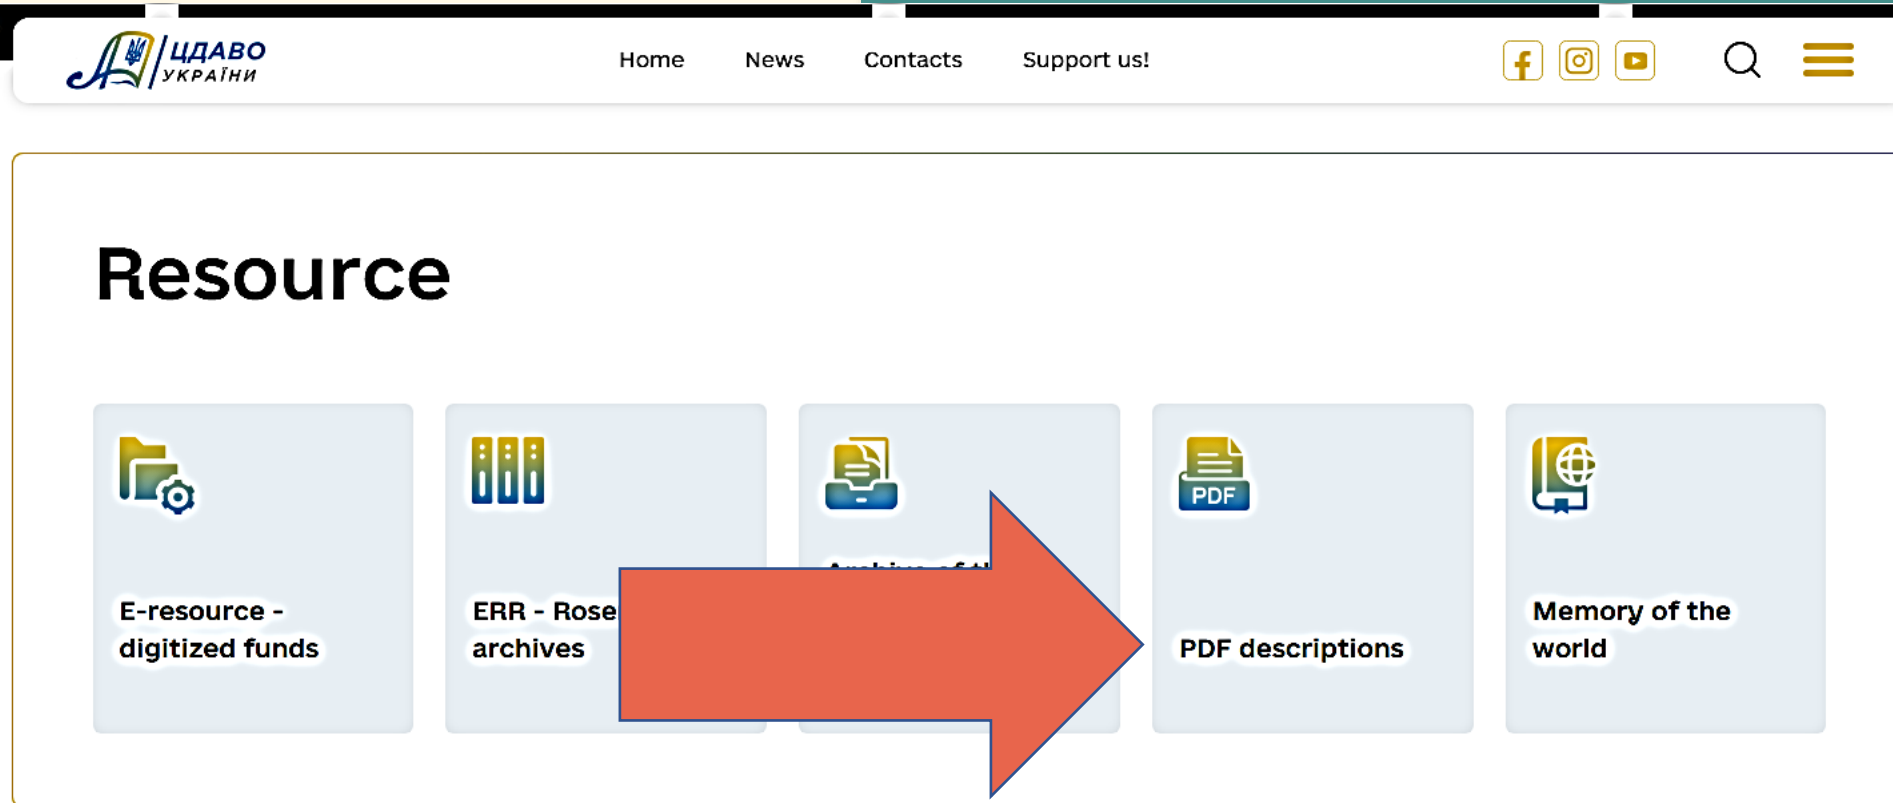

As a standard rule, an archival file should contain approximately 250 sheets, although in practice individual files may be either larger or smaller.

Given that the Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine holds 2,282,888 paper-based archival files, if we assume an average of 250 sheets per file, its holdings comprise approximately 570,722,000 sheets of records.

Archival methodology provides for the description of records primarily at the file level in archival inventories, rather than through item-level description of every individual document. The Archive does, of course, maintain catalogues, databases, and thematic reference tools containing item-level descriptions, but no catalogue could possibly cover such an enormous volume of records.

For this reason, the archival inventory remains the principal and most effective finding aid for researchers, even though it describes the holdings at the level of the archival file rather than the individual document.

TsDAVO Relating to Nazi-Era Cultural Property

The Einsatzstab Reichsleiter Rosenberg (ERR) was the main Nazi agency engaged in looting cultural valuables in Nazi-occupied countries during the Second World War. At the moment, the ERR archives are dispersed in 29 repositories in 9 countries.

One of the biggest and most important parts of the ERR archives is kept by the Central State Archives of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine (TsDAVO). These records provide information about arts, books, and archival materials confiscated from museums, libraries, and archives in former Soviet Union territory, as well from private collections (mainly Jewish) in Nazi-occupied North France and Belgium.

Three TsDAVO collections of ERR and related records were digitized and presented on-line by Archival Information Systems. The project was sponsored by the Conference on Jewish Material Claims Against Germany.

About 137,000 digital images of ERR documents are available free of charge through this Portal, which provides a direct link to the TsDAVO website. The descriptions, as well as the index of individual, geographic, and organization names, are available only in the Russian version at the moment. But Ukrainian, English, and German versions are planned.

Countless areas of research, unexpected topics, new perspectives — the Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine is open to new research horizons.

Principal Thematic Area

The Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine is an archive of Ukraine's contemporary history.

Its principal thematic areas are therefore chronologically defined: the lower boundary is 1917, while there is no upper boundary, as the Archive continuously expands its holdings with newly accessioned records.

More than 65,000 visitors saw Ukraine's largest exhibition project of 2025 — «Hryvnia: More Than Money», held at the Ukrainian House in Kyiv. TsDAVO of Ukraine was one of the project's organizers and actively supported research into the history of Ukrainian currency.

Principal Thematic Area

Researchers may pursue virtually any topic relating to Ukraine's history in the 20th and early 21st centuries.

For some research topics, examining a single archival fonds may be sufficient; others may require research across numerous fonds.

For example, a project on the history of cultural diplomacy between 1919 and 1924 and the concert tours of Oleksander Koshyts's Ukrainian Republican Capella across Europe, the Americas, and Africa required research in just one archival fonds — Fonds 3965, "Ukrainian Republican Capella Abroad."

Approximately one thousand diplomatic documents from the fonds of TsDAVO of Ukraine are available through a dedicated online resource of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Ukraine.

Principal Thematic Area

The Archive also preserves the fonds of the diplomatic representations of Soviet Ukraine during the period when the Ukrainian SSR maintained its own foreign relations.

International relations during the period of the Ukrainian SSR and independent Ukraine are extensively documented in Fonds 1, “Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine,” Fonds 2, “Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine”, and Fonds 5233 “Administration (Office) of the President of Ukraine “, as well as, in fact, in the fonds of virtually any central government authority.

Published on June 29, 2022, at 12:04

According to the State Archival Service of Ukraine, digital copies of records of the Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine from the period of the consolidation of independence, previously transferred for permanent state preservation to the Central State Archive of Supreme Bodies of Power and Government of Ukraine, are now available online 24/7.

TsDAVO of Ukraine has completed the uploading to its E-Resource of records from the Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine fonds for 1990–1996. The resource comprises 206,620 scanned copies of sheets from 1,015 files (Files Nos. 4481–5492, Inventory 16, Fonds 1). These include laws, decrees and resolutions of the Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine, their drafts and documents relating to their preparation and adoption, as well as minutes and verbatim records of parliamentary sittings. In the future, the resource will be supplemented with new records transferred to the Archive for permanent state preservation.

The documentary history of the Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine can be accessed here: <https://e-resource.tsdavo.gov.ua/inventories/8/>

The history of the establishment of Ukrainian statehood in the early 1990s will always remain one of the most fundamental areas of research
